Abundance & Prosperity Workshop

We are pleased to present Abundance & Prosperity, an exciting weekend workshop designed to transform your ability to create the experience of abundance in every area of your life.

Love, Money and the Time to Enjoy It

Abundance is something that all of us long for. We seek financial security, lasting love, and ample time to enjoy all the things in life that bring us pleasure. We search for freedom from worry in the present, liberation from fear for the future. We desire the deep and lasting inner peace that the experience of abundance brings.

But we often approach life from an attitude we call scarcity—that resources are scarce, finite and there may not be enough to go around. That's why money can be difficult to make, difficult to keep. Even when we make enough money to meet our day-to-day needs, we can still feel insecure.

Scarcity can create doubts about the future, making us fearful that we may lose what we have. With this attitude, true love seems hard to find—and even if we find it, the abundant excitement and passion of falling in love seem difficult to sustain. When we live our lives from this point of view, there never seems to be enough time for ourselves. We rarely let ourselves fully relax. We live under constant pressure and stress.

Is this any way to enjoy life?

Invest Two Days and Create Timeless New Possibilities

Abundance & Prosperity provides you with an opportunity to leave scarcity behind and tap into the richness and fulfilment of abundance. In the workshop, you'll learn the fundamental principles that generate the experience of abundance for all human beings. And you'll be guided in applying these principles to the areas of your life that are most important to you.

Money and Wealth

Abundance & Prosperity deals directly and powerfully with the subject of money and wealth. During the two days of the workshop, you'll face up to the limiting beliefs and self-defeating behaviours that may be restricting the flow of financial prosperity into your life. By surfacing and breaking through these barriers, you'll open up new possibilities for creating wealth that will bring you lasting security and independence.

Relationships

The Abundance & Prosperity workshop provides you with the opportunity to discover how to create abundant relationships with all the people that matter to you. Through your participation, you may understand why—even though there is a wealth of human beings around you—you might be keeping many people at a distance, and limiting the flow of love and friendship in your relationships. During the workshop you will learn the ways to create rich, satisfying and lasting relationships with the important people in your life.

Time

We all have 24 hours each day, and some of us experience ease, fullness, and abundance of time—while others are constantly hounded by a lack of time—another form of scarcity. Abundance & Prosperity offers the opportunity for a transformation in this area of your life, as well. In the workshop, you'll confront the truth about time, and uncover the source of the experience of timelessness in your life, moment-to-moment.

You have the ability to create anything you want in life. So why haven't you?
